It's a genuine Inlaid smooth surface rug that has the same resistance to surface wear as more expensive Linoleum, because the colorings and designs go clear through the surface composition to the backing — simply can't wear off unless the rug wears through.

FOR DEFENSE ... underfoot

- Sloane-Blabon Linoleums are serving defense demands in installations through the country, from the small floors of apartment kitchens and nurseries to the vast floor areas of new Government buildings, veterans' hospitals and even our most modern "ships of the line."
- Such installations require a linoleum that will give all-out protection.
- It must "armor-plate" floor surfaces of naval vessels against the toughest kind of wear and abuse—stand up under the most severe weather conditions, wind, rain or snow, freezing temperatures or blistering heat.
- It must protect the aged and infirm inmates of hospitals and government institutions from noise—be quiet, resilient and economically maintained.

Sloane-Blabon Linoleum

KITCHEN

NURSERY

VETERAN'S HOSPITAL

- In residential installations in defense areas it must be resistant to kitchen stains, grease and grime, stand up under the wear and tear of hard playing youngsters and be easy to keep clean.

- Sloane-Blabon Linoleums are today meeting these exacting specifications in thousands of installations throughout our defense areas.

Shown above in a modern kitchen setting is a guaranteed Service-Bond Rug, pattern No. 3176 — a Marbletone field highlighted with modern geometric figures all done in the extremely popular red, black and white color combination on clean white marbled ground. This particular pattern can be used effectively in kitchen or sun porches.

See the following 17 pages for the complete Service-Bond variety of design and color.
